Oh chirping bird

How sweet your chortle
Too bad we don't hear much
From your friend the turtle
~ Park Poets of America

Sweat bee that is in love with thee

Would you please find sweetness
That is not me, or at the very least
Find other interests, my company
~ Park Poets of America

Sasquatch where are you

Florida is too hot for two
That's why we have the Florida man
With salty britches and a tan
~ Park Poets of America

Before dawn in a nature yawn

Nocturnal beasts open eyes
In turn to rule the park
Sharing glory in the dark
~ Park Poets of America

On a path with many a root

The wise owl
Doesn't give a hoot
~ Park Poets of America

Butterfly flutters by

So elegant and shy
Floating up into the sky
Spirals into the trees on high
~ Park Poets of America

Oh silly little stump

Don't give my toe a bump
That's why I don't cut trees
Or they won't be nice to me
~ Park Poets of America

Some ride a bike

Others walk a dog
Adventure awaits
When you're a wild hog
~ Park Poets of America

Tides roll out

While little birdies

Scuttle about

Over top

Crabs are careless

No matter your hop

~ Park Poets of America

On the green

A sandy path

Holds true

Mushroom's wrath

~ Park Poets of America

The pine tree is a fine tree

The birch tree has besmirched me

The palm tree has no qualms with thee

~ Park Poets of America

Marshes

Moss grows in fuzzy rows

Over logs, into bogs

And under your toes

~ Park Poets of America

Buzzing dragonfly

Take me high

To the place

Where the bluebirds fly

~ Park Poets of America

On a nut

Stands a strut

Others

Simply walk by

~ Park Poets of America

Flower, flower

On a wall

Grow green

Forget what's tall
